AIRMEN EXCHANGE BLOWS IN ALEUTIANS

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—In an unusual Saturday press conference Secretary of Navy Frank Knox today asserted that American and Japanese losses in the current "skirmishes" in the Solomons have been "moderate" but he added that enemy moves indicate a major engagement may be imminent.

This belief was expressed by Knox at the press conference during which he also read a new Navy communiqué disclosing that American and Japanese airmen had exchanged blows in both the Aleutians and the Solomons.

Text of the navy's communiqué follows:

"North Pacific:

Cabinet Purge By Mussolini

Only Three Unimportant
ed After Changes

VIOLENT POLICY SPLIT IS SCENTED

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, Feb. 6.—The sweeping cabinet purge by Mussolini, which left only three unimportant posts untouched was interpreted today as evidence of a violent split in the government ranks on questions of internal policy.

In dismissing his son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, and 11 others from their posts, Mussolini was also believed to have seized the opportunity to remove from office those suspected of being half-hearted in their support of the Axis cause. Mussolini took over Ciano's duties as minister of foreign affairs and retained his former portfolios of interior, army, navy and air. The only posts not affected were the now honorary colonial ministry, the ministry of agriculture and the ministry of war production.

Next to Ciano, the most important figure to lose his official head was Count Dino Grandi, minister of justice and one-time ambassador to London. Rumor has linked Grandi and Ciano with circles which would welcome a separate peace for Italy.

Political observers in London saw in the move an effort by Mussolini to rehabilitate his personal prestige which has reached a new low with the Italian people. Also he hopes to shock the nation out of its apathy and bewilderment and depressed spirits.

Desperate Effort To Stall
Off Separate Peace Move
Seen In Mussolini's
Act

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—A desperate effort to prevent a separate peace move from developing in Italy today was seen behind Premier Benito Mussolini's action in carrying out a sweeping shakeup of his government.

Informed diplomatic observers in Washington pointed out that practically all of the officials dismissed by Mussolini are known to have been lukewarm from the very beginning to Italy's entry into the war, and especially the alliance with Germany and Japan.

Outing Count Ciano, Mussolini's son-in-law, as foreign minister was considered a definite indication that an anti-German move was developing in high quarters in Italy.

Officials in close touch with the Italian situation recalled that Ciano has been noted for his anti-German feelings and said that he actually opposed the alliance with Germany in the beginning.

The Germans are said to have hated him ever since, and on one occasion Adolf Hitler was reported to have given him a tongue-lashing which the proud Italian

Churchill Departs After Tripoli Review

(International News Service)
CAIRO, Feb. 6.—The whereabouts of Prime Minister Winston Churchill today following his departure early Friday from Tripoli for an undisclosed destination.

Mr. Churchill arrived in Tripoli Wednesday personally to thank the officers and men of the British Eighth Army for sweeping the Afrika Korps and its Italian allies out of Egypt and Libya.

His plane, presumably the big American Liberator which has carried him on most of his history-making trips, took off from Tripoli with its destination a mystery except to those aboard.

The Churchill plane landed at Castel Benito airfield late Wednesday. After debarking the prime minister, speaking from the top of a small hill, paid his tribute to the men of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery.

He said he had come to thank them "in the name of the king, the British government and the whole people."

German Reports Claim Churchill And Franco May Meet At Lisbon

By HOWARD BERRY

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Portuguese and detachments of police have been rushed to wards the Spanish border, and Minister of War Antonio De Oliveira Salazar has left Lisbon unexpectedly for an undisclosed destination, the Scandinavian telegraph bureau declared today.

A Stockholm dispatch to Reuter's news agency, quoting messages from Lisbon as authority for the reports, said:

"Something unusual is happening."

Report Churchill Coming

These developments came at a time when the German radio is filling the air with reports that Prime Minister Winston Churchill plans to visit Lisbon. The Daily Mail today quoted the Berlin radio as declaring that "two British admirals, a general and two civilians had arrived in Lisbon from Cairo."

The radio reported that rumors persisted in Berlin that Mr. Churchill was about to visit a large neutral country in western Europe.

Reuter's declared that these speculations in Berlin were linked with

Five Die In Huge California Blast

(International News Service)
RICHMOND, Cal., Feb. 6.—Five persons were dead today and 18 others were being treated for injuries as the result of a terrific explosion in a Chemurco Corporation plant near Richmond.

Sheriff office investigators said the blast occurred when Sam Szimick, a workman, apparently accidentally exploded a case of railroad torpedo flares. Cimick was nailed up the case and it was theorized that he drove a nail into a torpedo.

Army ordnance officials launched an immediate investigation.

Secrecy On Pacific Skirmishes Justified Because

NO BIG BATTLE YET REPORTED

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—

A week long series of skirmishes between the American and Japanese fleets in the Solomon Islands area of the south Pacific has been shrouded in secrecy for "justifiable reasons of strategy," OWI Director Elmer Davis announced today.

Davis corroborated navy communications of the past week which threw down Japanese claims of sinking eight warships, merely credited the enemy with making a major effort to regain the Solomons, denied that a battle was raging and admitted that both sides have suffered losses.

Both Sides Sparring

Asserting that both sides still were sparring, Davis added:

"I have talked with Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the fleet, and Secretary of the Navy Knox and there are justifiable reasons of strategy for not saying anything more at this time."

"It is still a case of striking out with your left again and again, feeling the enemy out. They are still sparring."

The OWI director admitted, however, that if the present situation continues much longer it will become necessary for the Navy Department to issue what he termed a progress report.

Although agreeing that it was unfortunate that the first statement on the South Pacific situation came from the Japanese, Davis declared

POLICE HUNTING SLAYER OF WOMAN

Young Woman Is Found Dead
Near Barn At Paterson,
New Jersey

(International News Service)
PATERNON, N. J., Feb. 6.—Police today redoubled their efforts to apprehend the slayer of attractive 26-year-old Miss Elizabeth Traxler, of Reedsville, Pa., whose bruised and lacerated body was found beside a barn Thursday.

An autopsy disclosed that the girl has been strangled after she had been badly beaten and criminally assaulted.

Held as a material witness was Frank Peirano, a truck driver, who told authorities he was engaged to marry Miss Traxler. He had left home on a regular run several hours before the slaying, he said.

Questioning of residents in the vicinity where the body was found, disclosed that Miss Traxler was last seen alive in a nearby tavern. Several women said they heard screams during the early morning hours while a man whose name was not disclosed remembering seeing two figures struggling near the barn.

He said he thought it was merely a "drunken brawl."

Western Pennsylvania Request For Change Of Gas Zone To Be Presented

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 6.—Heeded by a group of Pittsburgh business men, a delegation from a dozen western Pennsylvania communities plan to meet with Washington authorities next Thursday in a continuation of this district's fight to remove itself from District No. 1 gasoline rationing zone.

The western Pennsylvanians will present their renewed demands to Petroleum Co-ordinator Harold Ickes, Price Administrator Prentiss Brown and Economic Director James F. Byrnes.

The case for this section's oil men was given impetus earlier this week when West Virginia was lifted out of District No. 1 and restored to District No. 2, where a more liberal gasoline allowance for motorists is permitted.

U. S. Senator Joseph E. Guffey "D" will head the delegation and it was understood, will be the chief spokesman when the demands are laid before the three men who control the nation's wartime economy.

Bad Weather Over Tunisia

(International News Service)
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 6.—Enemy counter-attacks yesterday forced withdrawal of mixed British and French forces from a newly won hill position in the Diebel Mansour area, an allied communiqué revealed today.

The fighting was described by a headquarters spokesman as "a small, local action of no great importance."

The allied troops consisted of British paratroopers and units of the French Foreign Legion, the spokesman said.

Bad weather limited air activity over Tunisia, the communiqué declared, but on Saturday night the harbor and docks at Bizerte were bombed.

No allied aircraft were lost in this engagement.

The statement added that of 10 allied planes reported as missing yesterday, four have returned to their bases and the pilots of two others are safe.

Ground activity yesterday was described as patrol work.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Russian forces converging on Kharkov, great Ukraine industrial center and main Axis base in south Russia, were within 45 miles of the city, Reuter's reported today in a dispatch from Moscow.

The Soviet force which has driven close to Kharkov was said to have scored a 25-mile advance in the past 24 hours.

Reds Surge Ahead

Moscow, Feb. 6.—Russian offensives on the 500-mile front in the south surged ahead today in new gains following capture of points close to the German 1942 line.

The mid-day Soviet communiqué reported capture of a series of strong-points south of Rostov and in this sector, an Russian unit broke into a town on a rail line and captured a train loaded with German tanks and other military supplies.

A Stockholm dispatch to Reuter's in London said the Russians have attacked Batisk, only 10 miles south of Rostov, and the Germans were preparing to evacuate the city. If this report is correct the Caucasus gateway is within the range of Russian big guns.

"On another sector our units captured two large towns. Two enemy companies were wiped out and we took numerous and much booty," the communiqué stated.

"In the area of Krasny Liman (midway between Kharkov and Rostov) a battalion of infantry was routed from an inhabited locality. Mobile units on this front, operating behind enemy lines, annihilated the garrisons of three towns."

"East of Mursk several additional towns were captured by Soviet forces and 300 prisoners captured."

Seventeen Jap Planes Are Shot Down

Half Of Japanese Squadron Is Lost

Night Attack On U. S. Warships Costly To Japanese Air Force In Pacific

NEW TACTICS ARE USED IN ATTACKS

By RICHARD TREGASKIS
A JAPANESE ADVANCED BASE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, Feb. 6.—Half of a Japanese torpedo plane squadron which made a two-day attack on an American naval force in the Solomons was shot into the sea, it was disclosed today.

The Japanese raid occurred off Rennell Island, 100 miles south of Guadalcanal, on January 29 and 30. When the battles ended at least 17 of the 35 attacking planes had fallen victims to the accuracy of American gunners.

Night Attack
The enemy adopted new tactics in a night attack in which they dropped flares to light the targets. The Japanese formations dropped their torpedoes from safe ranges, but nevertheless these anti-aircraft gunners on the American vessels shot down six of the raiders.

On the following day the Japanese came back, this time in daylight. The entire formation of 11 attacking planes was destroyed.

There was no announcement of damage to the American warships. The enemy planes were two-motored Mitsubishi. They first dropped smoke pots to mark the disposition of our ships and then released blinding flares which served the double purpose of blinding our gunners and making the area covered by our vessels almost as light as day.

One Ship Gets Three
One American warship alone accounted for three of the six Japanese aircraft brought down during this night attack.

The enemy attacked in two waves, each made up of 12 planes. They appeared to be dropping bombs when suddenly the men aboard the warships saw the "tin fish" streaking towards them.

The anti-aircraft guns went into action instantly and threw a protective screen of fire over the area. Two enemy planes flew directly over one ship and ran squarely into the chattering fire of its guns. Both went flaming to the sea.

One ship in flames, zoomed across the deck of a warship, narrowly missing the superstructure, and crashed nearby. The warships steamed rapidly out of the glow of the burning plane.

The following afternoon the Japanese attacks again. A lone American patrol plane, a PBY flying boat, spotted the formation and made a heroic attempt to disperse it.

But the enemy swept on and dropped their missiles while still at great distance. Then they continued their runs over our vessels in strafing attacks.

American fighter planes got up and a series of dogfights followed. The fighters shot down six of the Japanese bombers. The anti-aircraft batteries on our warships accounted for the other five, so that not a single Japanese plane got back to its base.

and in the wharf area as the Flying Fortress shot down five intercepting Zero fighters. Six other Zeros were believed to have gone down before the heavy and accurate fire of the Forts.

Rabaul, on New Britain Island, east of New Guinea, was bombed in the seventh consecutive night attack, which was preceded by a harassing raid that lasted three hours. The attacks were concentrated on the two airfields near the port and fires were started which were visible for a hundred miles.

Three attacks were made by medium bombers on the airfield at Gasmata, on the southern shore of the island. Our bombs started a series of fires that were visible many miles at sea.

Supply Ship Sunk
A 1,000-ton Japanese supply vessel was sunk in the Tala Sea, off New Britain, and another small vessel was sunk and a second damaged in the harbor at Lorengau.

Medium bombers set off heavy explosions in ammunition dumps at the enemy base on Dobo Island, in the Aru group, south of New Guinea. The harbor area was bombed and a number of fires started among buildings and supply dumps.

Skirmishes between Australian jungle troops and enemy patrols continued in the Kamusi river and Way-Mohu district in the Lae area. A Japanese force attempting to flee down the river at night was cut off by Allied patrols. After losing 75 dead the surviving enemy troops fled into the bush.

Another 54 Japanese were killed in futile assaults on Allied positions around Wau, 10 miles south of Lae. Allied fighter and attack bombers swept the whole area around Lae in continuous assaults.

No New Details AS YET REVEALED ON SEA CONFLICT

that the enemy "just took a shot in the dark" and put out reports that were without foundation.

Sporadic Encounters
"The Japanese claim a hit every time they fire a gun," he said. "Our navy wants to have the facts in hand before releasing information."

Meanwhile, the navy described the action as "sporadic encounters between U. S. and Japanese air and surface units" to prevent any information on disposition of American units from reaching the Japs.

The fact that the Japs have not moved in with a concentrated force was interpreted by navy men as proof that the enemy had command taking no chances of running into a repetition of the mid-November battle, when three enemy armadas were surprised and smashed by U. S. forces.

According to naval observers, the Japanese have had time to repair some of the warships damaged in previous encounters around Guadalcanal and also have had time to move replacements from Japan to Truk, the main enemy base in the mid-Pacific.

May Be Large Battle
Since America's South Pacific fleet undoubtedly has been increased in size and striking power during the past few weeks a clash between the main Jap and U. S. surface forces in that area might well turn into the greatest sea-air engagement of the war.

The Japs have made several thrusts by sea in an effort to crush American resistance on Guadalcanal, and each time they were driven back with heavy losses.

Since the mid-November battle, the American air force on Guadalcanal has been expanded and has been blasting enemy bases throughout the Solomons. It was considered unlikely that the Japs would move a large warship armada within striking distance of Henderson field unless they held air superiority.

To gain this advantage, navy men believe the enemy may attempt a two-pronged aerial assault against Guadalcanal, using available land planes in the area along with carrier-based craft.

Westfield Pastor, Lt. E. A. Shoemaker, Serving In Hawaii

Navy Chaplain On Temporary Detached Duty, Enjoys Service, Islands

(By HELEN BERKEY)
HONOLULU, Hawaii, Jan. 25.—Lt. (jg.) Edwin A. Shoemaker, USN of New Castle, Pa., on temporary detached service in Hawaii is enjoying every moment of his stay in the Islands.

"The combination of rugged green mountains that run like a backbone from one end of the island to the other with the shore-line of gentle sea and waving palms is breathtaking in beauty," says the navy officer. "The view from the Pali is most unusual, too, both in scope and in formation. I wonder about the city of Honolulu like a tourist, taking bus rides into the valleys and enjoying the native street scenes."

Lt. Shoemaker is in the Chaplain's Service.

"I am on a year's leave from the Westfield Presbyterian church in New Castle. My church is a very old one, dating back to 1803. It has had but nine preachers in nearly a hundred and fifty years. I am very much attached to my parish. I think that is one reason I joined the navy. I saw the young men of my church called into the service. I couldn't stand up in my pulpit Sunday after Sunday and preach while they were fighting for me. I decided to go with them instead."

Lt. Shoemaker joined the navy in September, 1942. He is very enthusiastic about the service. "The men as a group are fine. There is a great esprit de corps among them, a cooperative effort in whatever they do."

Chaplain Shoemaker thinks he will enjoy the sea. "I hope to be attached to a ship and go into the war zone," he says. "I want to go where I am most needed."

Repeal Of $25,000 Salary Limit Is Being Considered

House Ways And Means Committee Hears Charges On Reduced U. S. Income

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—As the house ways and means committee convened to consider repeal of President Roosevelt's $25,000 year limitation on salaries, Rep. Gearhart (R-Cal., sponsor of the repealer, today charged the limitation would cost the government $110,000,000 in lost revenue this year through reduced taxable incomes.

Gearhart said the figures had been prepared for him by Colin Stam, chief of staff of the joint committee on internal revenue taxation.

As the committee met, its 10 Republican members were reported to be lined up solidly behind the repeal bill, with at least three Democrats and possibly five prepared to join them. They proposed to support the Gearhart measure as a substitute for a bill by Chairman Doughton (D-N.C., which would increase the national debt limit from $125,000,000 to $210,000,000,000.

The Gearhart measure is identical with that sponsored by Doughton except that it contains a rider which would repeal the salary limitation.

What the outcome within the committee would be was thrown in doubt by reports that Mr. Roosevelt was personally intervening in the fight and had dispatched a letter to Doughton opposing repeal.

Nursery School Need Discussed

Seek Such A School For Children Whose Mothers Are Working In War Plants

Meing Friday in The Castleton hotel, the welfare committee of the U. S. Citizens' Service Corps, a division of the Lawrence County Council of Defense, discussed the need of a nursery school in New Castle for the convenience of children whose mothers are working in war industry. Rev. A. M. Stump, chairman of the committee, presided.

Rev. Stump had previously asked Roger Jewett of the Greater New Castle association to survey the industries here with the idea of determining whether or not the need for such a school existed. Mr. Jewett reported that some 1,400 or 1,500 women would be employed in industry here within the next six months, but that it was the feeling of the industries that mothers with small children should be the last women to be employed, assuming that other qualifications were equal.

Mr. Jewett also pointed out that a number of construction jobs were being finished and this would release some men for war plant work. Also, the fact that many New Castle men are now employed in other cities. If these men could be returned to their home city it would help the employment problem.

In order to be ready for the task when and if the need arises, the committee will probably locate a place for such a school and perhaps train teachers for the work. The committee is to investigate the possibility of obtaining funds for the work through the Lanham Act of the federal government. Further meetings will be held.

RUSSIAN FORCES ONLY 45 MILES FROM KHARKOV

the shore of the sea of Azov in the direction of Yeisk were reported within 12 miles of the port.

Far to the north the encirclement of Kursk made steady progress. Russian forces several days ago breached the German 1942 line at a point only 22 miles north of Kursk and today the southern claw of the Soviet pincers was said to be only 18 miles southeast of the city.

Other Russian spearheads were reported within 50 miles of Kharkov, and only 45 miles from Belgorod, a strongly fortified town between Kursk and Kharkov.

A Soviet special communiqué announced the fall of two more important points—Stary Oskol, a railway town 75 miles southeast of Kursk, and Izium, 75 miles southeast of Kharkov. It was from Izium that the German drive on Rostov was launched last summer.

Another Russian force drove on 35 miles southwest of Stary Oskol to capture Skorodino, within striking distance of Belgorod. The Izium garrison was surrounded and only a few escaped, reports of the battle declared.

The victorious Red armies pushed on beyond the captured strong points and occupied additional territory in the areas of both Izium and Stary Oskol.

More babies were born in the United States last year than ever. A lot of 2,800,000 made their debut in 1942.

Babies today have a better chance to grow up than ever before. Compare the infant death rate of 1917 with that of last year.

In 1917, 95 of every 1,000 failed to reach their first birthday. Last year this death rate was less than 45 for each 1,000.

The maternal death rate has decreased in similar degree. In 1917, 6½ mothers died for each 1,000 births.

Today, the rate is a little less than 3 per 1,000 births.

Marriages last year showed an increase of 80 per cent over 1932. There were 1,800,000 marriages last year.

Deaths of the Day

Gerald Eugene Lee, five-day old son of John and Orvetta Mosley Lee, Wood street, died in the Jameson Memorial hospital on Friday. The baby was born in the hospital last Sunday.

Funeral services are being held at the Crunkleton funeral home, West Falls street, this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. U. S. Munterly, pastor of the Second Baptist church, is in charge. Interment is being made in Graceland cemetery.

Miss Margaret M. Kemp, aged 37, of Ravenna, O., died Friday at noon in that city. She had been ill since last September.

Miss Kemp was born in Lawrence county on December 12, 1905, a daughter of William J. and Jennie McMay Kemp. She had lived in Alliance, O., for several years with her parents and later, went to Ravenna where she had been a beauty operator for a number of years. She was a member of the Christian church of Ravenna.

Survivors are one sister and three brothers, Mrs. Irene Shiner of New Galilee, Wayne R. Kemp of New Castle, William P. Kemp of Wooster, O., and Francis L. Kemp of Franklin, Ind.

Funeral services will be conducted at the R. L. Boyd funeral home, North Jefferson street, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be in Oak Park cemetery.

The body will be brought to the funeral home here Sunday morning and friends may call anytime after 10 a.m.

Mrs. Mildred Shaffer DeGarmo, aged 69, widow of James W. DeGarmo, died this morning at 9:40 o'clock at her home, 128 East Auburndale avenue, Youngstown. Mrs. DeGarmo, who had been ill for several weeks, had been confined to her bed for the past two weeks.

Born in Prospect, Pa., on November 30, 1873, a daughter of Raulius and Amelia Ruby Shaffer, Mrs. DeGarmo had resided in Youngstown for four years, having come there from New Castle. Mr. DeGarmo preceded his wife in death in January, 1942, shortly after they had celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Mrs. DeGarmo was a member of the Indiana Methodist church of Youngstown.

Surviving are the following children: Mrs. James W. DeGarmo, of New Castle; George DeGarmo, of Youngstown; Frank DeGarmo, of Chicago, one brother, Frank Shaffer, of New Castle; one sister, Mrs. Ella Koeliker, of New Castle; five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the R. L. Boyd funeral home, North Jefferson street, with Rev. W. A. Thornton, pastor of Epworth Methodist church, in charge. Interment will be in Graceland cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home any time after four o'clock Sunday.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my mother, Constance Scarnati, who died February 7, 1940. Sadly missed by her son, Joseph.

I miss you, mother dear. Since you have gone to rest, So far—far away in the distant blue. But yet you are so near.

The years are rolling by, mother dear. And the thought of you will linger on. In my memories, as the years roll on. Oh, how I miss you, mother dear. Adv 11*

GERMAN REPORTS CHURCHILL-FRANCO MEETING AT LISBON

another German report that Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish dictator, would visit Lisbon tomorrow, accompanied by Gen. Francisco Gomez Jordana, his minister of foreign affairs, and several members of the general staff.

"Would Be Surprised"
Portuguese officials were quoted by the Berlin report as saying that a visit by Mr. Churchill would be a surprise but that it was "not impossible."

The British prime minister's last known whereabouts was Tripoli where he arrived Wednesday for a visit with the victorious British eighth army. He left Tripoli by plane early Friday for an unannounced destination, Cairo dispatches reported.

The purpose of a visit to Lisbon by the prime minister at this time was not clear to London observers. But there was nothing obscure about the welter of German reports. Hitler and his intelligent agents were caught flat-footed by the announcement that Mr. Churchill and President Roosevelt had held a 10-day conference at Casablanca, and they were also napping when the British leader appeared suddenly in Turkey for the meetings that strengthened allied ties with that country.

Spain and Portugal are the only remaining countries in Europe which he might visit with profit for the United Nations cause, and the Reich does not want to be caught unawares again. So the Berlin rumor factory is playing it safe by sending the much-traveled Mr. Churchill to Portugal—and then having the group of Spanish leaders go there to meet him.

KEEPING AT WORK

SOCIAL SECURITY figures showing that 600,000 persons in the United States who could have retired with a pension have chosen to remain at work indicate our changed attitude toward manpower.

The nation is also glad to welcome back to jobs the 43,000 which Social Security officials say have for the present passed up retirement benefits they were receiving.

Social Security legislation was enacted when it was thought to be an economic benefit to retire older workers to make jobs for youth. The payments were scheduled in such a way as to encourage as many older workers as possible to take advantage of the opportunity to retire.

Public school systems revised their retirement programs so as to force out of active work older employees. Prejudice against employing workers of mature age was rampant.

It was the sickness of the times that made it appear that the country would be better off if idleness were enforced on older people. Those who can and want to work contribute more to the nation's wealth by staying on the job than being paid pensions in retirement.

Idleness is irksome to many people who have spent their lives working. It is to be hoped that in the world made possible by the United Nations' victory retirement will not have to be made especially inviting or forced on those who are capable and willing to work.

THE HARD WAY

Sometimes among the scenes of this World War intrude characters of the First World War or earlier periods. One of them is Mme. Joseph Caillaux, who appears only to disappear. She died the other day.

Mme. Caillaux was the central figure in one of France's most celebrated murder trials. Shortly before the outbreak of the First World War, she concealed a small pistol in her muff, went to the office of Le Figaro, leading Paris newspaper, and fired six bullets into the editor, Gaston Calmette. Calmette had been attacking her husband, then finance minister, in Le Figaro, not hesitating to rake up personalities. Of the murder Mme. Caillaux said simply: "There was no other way to put a stop to it."

But when she was brought to trial, she insisted that the shooting was unpremeditated. Either the jury believed her second statement instead of the first, or, as Le Figaro later charged, was influenced by political and monetary considerations. At any rate, Mme. Caillaux was acquitted.

Regardless of the impropriety of Calmette's editorial attacks on Caillaux, the principle of freedom of the press was involved. The bland acceptance of the defendant's plea that the six shots were not premeditated gave an insight into conditions which even in 1914 were beginning to become apparent. Although in general the French were far stronger then physically and morally than they were when Hitler flanked the Maginot Line, the scandals of the time and political interference with justice gave a clue to the probable trend of developments after the war.

Vichy represents both the result of that trend and the lowest point in French morale. There are signs that out of suffering and chaos will come national regeneration. It is the hard way, but, perhaps, the only way.

SMASH HITLER'S U-BOAT THREAT

It is now unmistakably clear that Hitler, suffering a major military defeat in Russia, beset at home by Allied bombing planes and facing a growing threat from North Africa, is now pinning most of his hope of victory on intensified submarine warfare.

The plan for stepped-up U-boat campaigns was apparent the other day when Admiral Dönitz, submarine warfare expert, was named head of the German Navy in place of Admiral Raeder. But now Dönitz has announced frankly that "the entire German Navy will henceforth be put into the service of inexorable U-boat warfare."

Here is a challenge the seriousness of which the United States Government must recognize. For months German submarines have been one of the greatest threats to the Allies. But neither America nor Britain has attacked the U-boat problem with sufficient energy and resourcefulness.

The time for temporizing with the submarine peril is past. The Allies must organize to end this menace. Better protected convoys, more escort vessels, sea and air offensives against the submarines—these are mandatory measures. Anti-submarine warfare should be put on an orderly basis under the command of the smartest tactician the Allies have.

We must wake up to the fact that if we don't beat the U-boats the U-boats may beat us. We must come to grips with this problem in the unflinching determination to solve it.

UNFRIENDLY ARGENTINA

Now that Chile has broken off diplomatic relations with the Axis, Argentina is the only country of the entire Western Hemisphere that has not joined forces with the United States in the struggle against the aggressor nations.

Studios efforts have been made by the Castillo regime to create an impression of scrupulous neutrality. Actually, this technique is being employed to obscure the real status of Argentina, which is that of at least a passive ally of the Axis, whose sympathies, at least in so far as the dominant spirits of the government are concerned, lie with Hitler and Mussolini.

The really serious and dangerous aspect of the situation lies in the fact that Argentina is the only spot on the Western Hemisphere where Axis agents can find shelter and are free to promote their schemes and plots against the United Nations.

Argentina has not earned classification as a friend and there is no reason why she should be considered as such when peace comes and postwar policies are formulated.

The Parent Problem

By Gary C. Myers, Ph. D.

TRAIN TODDLER TO LEAVE THINGS ALONE

"Dear Dr. Myers:—Please tell me the best way to stop my 18-month-old boy from pulling down the table cloth, curtains and shaking the floor lamp.

"He is very affectionate. I give him much of my time and take him outside as much as possible. This morning we put up clean curtains. He pulled on them and got his hands slapped. They were all red. He cried a little and turned right around and pulled the table cloth down. It hurts me to punish him but I fear that if we can't make him mind now, we will have more trouble later. The quickest way to stop is when I pretend I am crying. Then he comes to me and wants me to stop crying. But I'm afraid this will get old, too.

"He talks quite a few words and understands everything we say. If his daddy or I sit down he brings a magazine to have us tell him about the pictures. If he doesn't want to come to me to get dressed, I'll say I'll tell him a story; then he comes. He is old enough to be read to. Please send me your selected list of books to read to the baby and young child. A self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed.

Enjoys Pictures

The book list was gladly sent to her and she was urged to read to him at once. You see, he likes to hear stories told and enjoys looking at pictures. When you read to a tot from any well-illustrated story book or book of nursing rhymes, he hears the story told about the picture he is looking at.

I wrote this mother about as follows: In the case of the curtains, table cloth and floor lamp, it would be easier to teach him to avoid them if only one of them were in the room as the training began. Suppose you were concentrating on the curtains. Then it would be better to have no cloth on the table nor floor lamp in the room.

Every time he reached for those curtains he should have an instant spanking without further warning; never be pulled away nor yelled at. Plan your time so you always will be right with him when he is near the curtains until he learns to avoid them automatically and permanently.

Takes Time To Learn

Then bring back the table cloth and proceed with it as with the curtains, saying NO just once in connection with his reaching for or touching it. Do likewise with the lamp next. Be happy if this learning has been accomplished over a period of several days.

In all this training be sure to have on hand favorite toys he can immediately turn to with pleasure after getting spanked. In some instances, when you find yourself spanking often, with him and you both getting badly worked up, it will be desirable to let everything go and read him a story or take him for a walk, waiting till both of you are more fit for the training ordeal.

You are right in doubting the value of your pretending to cry to control him. That will soon wear out. Besides, it defeats your main purpose. When he does wrong only he should be punished for it.

My special bulletin, "How to Teach Tot the meaning of NO," may be had by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three cent stamp on it.

Solving Parent Problems
Q Please send me something for grandparents to read. We parents have our three young children live with my father and mother. They are good to us but they do and say so many things which hamper our guidance of these children. A self-addressed envelope stamped with three cents is enclosed.

A I sent her a special bulletin, "Suggestions to Grandparents."

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERMAN
(International News Service Staff Writer)

Treasury and congressional tax people who never gave a thought to pay-as-you-go, now are all experts.

No one of them ever came up with a pay-as-you-go plan previous to the Ruml plan but they all know what's wrong with that.

He built the better mousetrap and they're trying to stick his leg in it. Ruml has now made a dozen appearances in Washington and looks thinner after each one.

He seems to know what he's talking about and the people seem to know what he's talking about but the treasury and some congressmen are suffering from night blindness.

Not one of them has said "Let's see if we can make it work." When they aren't saying "It won't work" they're saying "We couldn't possibly get it in this year anyhow."

Where does an idea go to register? Certainly not at the treasury.

Thought for the day: Always put off 'till tomorrow what you could do today.

Hints On Etiquette

Why not train your small child to let you sit down on street car or bus and take him on your lap or let him stand. Also always to practice the small courtesies of life. Then maybe when he is older he will have more consideration for older persons than have many of the present generation.

Why not remove the ban on raising pigs in the city during the war? Remember when most everybody had a pig pen in the long ago?

About the only thing that is being made now that will last forever is history, and it will be easy to remember.

Just a No Count Lamp—Adjuster: What's the matter with the lamp, Madam?

Lady—It has all the faults of my husband, with none of his virtues. Adjuster—Please explain yourself. Lady—Well, it has a good deal of brass about it, it is not remarkably brilliant, requires a good deal of attention, flares up occasionally, is always out at bedtime, and is bound to smoke.

There seems to be more than two sides to every question in this country now.

"The charge will be $50," the lawyer told the man who had sought information. "What for?" demanded the man. "For my advice." "I'm not going to give $50 for something I'm not taking," the man said, walking out.

None Whatsoever—The man at the theater was annoyed by his conversation in the row behind. "Excuse me," he said, "but we can't hear a word."

"Oh," replied the talkative one, "and is any business of yours what I'm telling my wife?"

Real Americans are now going all they can to win the war.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

Among my friends is a young husband who has lately lost his position through the bankruptcy of the firm that has been paying him a high salary. He and his wife have had to sell their house and move into an apartment. But his disappointment over his losses does not depress him nearly so much as his wife's chronic complaints before their friends of her necessary economies—particularly her refusal to go out because she lacks the quality of clothes that she used to have.

Too many wives go through life ignorant of the fact that a man's greatest humiliation is any insinuation before others that they are poor providers. Not only is it a wife's duty to economize and relieve her husband of financial worry; but if she is childless and able to do so she should get herself at least a part-time job and help defray expenses, especially today when there is so great a variety of industries and shops. The day of the feminine parasite is past. The wife is supposed to do her share when things go from better to worse and she who does not may justifiably be classed among her husband's liabilities.

Question: I am a young man puzzled by the following: Who selects a man's dinner partner at a formal dinner? How are guests assigned to their places when cards are used?—E. K.

Answer: If there is a butler in attendance (as there should be at every formal dinner), it is his duty to see that each man, before entering the drawing room, is given the name of the woman whom he is to take to dinner. Her name may be written on a card and placed in a small envelope addressed to him. At a large dinner, the butler usually stands at the dining-room door and directs the guests to their places. Each man holds his partner's chair, unless there is a servant present for this purpose. The butler then takes his place behind the hostess' chair and holds it for her while she stands waiting for the guests to find their places.

The government may take over seven million privately owned cars and spare tires. That will be all right if it helps win the war.

Seriously, the money price of the war is insignificant when we reckon the risk and loss of thousands of the finest young men we have. Becoming alarmed at a dollar mark should humiliate us.

Germany Can Be Licked Into Quitting
Japanese However Must Be Killed Off
Philippines Are Tempted With FreedomBy CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Suppose Germany should surrender unconditionally, as demanded by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill at their Casablanca conference? Would that mean Japan also? It would include Italy certainly. In fact it wouldn't be surprising if the Italians were to do their own unconditional surrendering, without waiting for any German initiative. Concerning the Japs there's plenty of speculation.

As proved by World War I, the Germans can be licked into quitting. Licking a Jap, however, has long been recognized as necessitating killing him. As I've had occasion to remark before, the average Jap is an amiable, kindly individual. His military group absolutely dominates the Tokyo government, though, and these guys are wantonly murderous if they can get away with it, or suicidal if forcibly stalled off from murder. The militarists, too, can be seemingly polite and affable, but it's superficial.

Germany, to be sure, has a military class, likewise. But even the German militarists aren't as crazy as their Jap brethren. They can unconditionally surrender if they have to, or maybe their difficulty is that they can't get their whole population to follow them.

The Japs operate on a 100 per cent wholesale basis, the militarists dictating.

A generation ago they had a war with Russia and the Russians won it, as the whole world was aware, but Tokyo, refusing to admit it, simply went on fighting until the then czar's subjects so tired of it that they assassinated the treaty negotiator, Portsmouth, which recognized the islanders as victors and established 'em on the Asiatic mainland, where they're raising hades at present.

Anglo-American military, naval, aviation and diplomatic experts incline to the view that they've been more help to Germany than the Germans have been to them.

The Germans do help 'em in one important respect—They distract the United States from attacking 'em formidably in the Pacific. But what they ob-

In an article recently published, Karl A. McCormick, Proctor of the Bar for the eighth judicial district of New York, declared that a ban on admissions for the next five years would result in no shortage of lawyers.

To Mr. McCormick's views great respect must be accorded. He lives close to the problem of professional economics. In his own district at least he knows well what lawyers earn and what they ought to earn and what prospects they have in the present situation of earning what they ought to earn. And he has ample opportunity to observe the serious effect on both profession and public when a section of the Bar must continuously struggle to keep an economic toehold.

Yet sound as we must regard Mr. McCormick's appraisal of conditions as they presently exist, his use of the phrase "probably decline of paying law work" suggests he has given little weight to two considerations that seem highly significant to some of us and that appear to justify a rather less pessimistic outlook than that which the Proctor described.

These considerations may be stated as follows: First, with the termination of the war the nation will assuredly set about the greatest production task in its peacetime history. With everything needed, both here and throughout the world, the pent-up demand will not be satisfied for years to come. Meanwhile life and human relations will certainly not be stated as follows:

SCAPEGOAT

A foolish man am I, so I've been told. Well, who would women happier be to scold?

When wife and daughter must a victim choose, A grandpa is the handiest one to use.

Rather than cause the little ones to cry "Let grandpa have the epithets," say I.

A foolish man. An idiot, they may add. Yes, pile it on until enough they've had.

More'n and numbskull! Bitter terms to use. Merely for granting pleasures they refuse.

But this they've said since first the race began. There's none so foolish as a foolish man!

No sense! No reason! That is true enough. A grandpa should be made of stern stuff.

Put down his foot, head shake and tell them: "No!" But "yes" is so much happier, and so.

I'll be the children's scapegoat, right or wrong. And take the women's scoldings, brief or long.

Heckling Industry

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. NOT LONG ago there was an outburst of oratory in Congress against the tendency of governmental bureaucracy to compel American industry to spend so large a part of its time answering unnecessary questionnaires and making out needless reports. It was soundly contended that these agencies have gone to absurd extremes in heckling and harassing business in this way and that the war effort was being slowed down as a result.

NO MORE convincing evidence of this could be found than the recent sweeping revision of the proxy rules promulgated by the Securities Exchange Commission. It is not too much to say that industry generally is revolted and resentful at what has been done and it is certain that the issue will be decided by Congress. The proposal to revise the proxy rules was first made last August and aroused a great volume of protest and criticism from every branch of business and from all parts of the country. A bill was introduced rescinding the power of the SEC to make such rules—at least during the war. There were a number of Congressional attacks and the proposal apparently was abandoned.

THE IMPRESSION was gained then that industry was thus to have a breathing spell from further hampering regulations and allowed to devote its full energies to the war effort. However, on December 18, two days after the Seventy-seventh Congress had adjourned, and the pending bill had died, the SEC promulgated a set of rules even more objectionable from a practical point of view than the first proposals. If these rules, devised ostensibly to protect the stockholders, are enforced, they will impose a new burden on every corporation in the country. They will add greatly to the cost as well as to the difficulties of doing business. They will promote confusion and inefficiency and they will accomplish no useful purpose whatever. That is the contention of industrialists all over the country and they appear to have the facts to support them.

THERE IS not space here to go into the details of what the new rules require, but it is clear that they could easily reduce any business to chaos. For one thing they put the corporation at the mercy of any crack-pot stockholder with as much as a single share of stock. Such a man has his nuisance value enhanced by the new rules to a point where he can practically blackmail a company in the grand manner. In addition, another effect of the new rules is to make it

LOOKING AT LIFE

—By Erich Brandeis

For many years New York's Westside Police Court had been located in a ramshackle, dingy old building that was so drafty and badly heated that it had been nicknamed "Pneumonia Hall."

A few weeks ago the court was moved to the new $20,000,000 Criminal Courts Building, and there was great rejoicing among the judges, court attaches, drunks, pickpockets and vagrants.

Here was marble and bronze; statues and massive radiators, fairs, sanitary plumbing and velvet drapes. The whole thing was costing millions.

Then Gus Schoenheit, court stenographer, who boasted that he had not had a sick day in thirty years, had to take to his bed with a cold.

Sneezes, coughs and wheezes became the order of each day and one by one the employees of the court started to stay out from work.

The attendance record was worse than it had ever been in the old

Pre-Easter Plans Are Being Formed

Sunday Schools To Launch Eight Weeks Campaign On March 7

Plans are progressing for a "Victory" Pre-Easter increase campaign similar to previous campaigns sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association, and this 8 weeks campaign will start Sunday, March 7. The same goal as those of previous years will be used, which are, an increase in Evangelism, an increase in Sunday School attendance, an increase in church attendance and an increase in Bible study. A number of the Sunday Schools participating in previous years, have already started making plans for this year's campaign. As heretofore, the average attendance of the last calendar year, will be taken as a basis for computing attendance gains. However, this year the situation is somewhat different for many more of the young men of the county. Sunday schools are with the armed forces since last year. In order to make up for this an allowance will be made from last year's average attendance.

The first goal, "An increase in Evangelism" is usually pretty well taken care of by the various Sunday Schools and churches just before Easter. It is hoped that even a greater effort will be put forth this year.

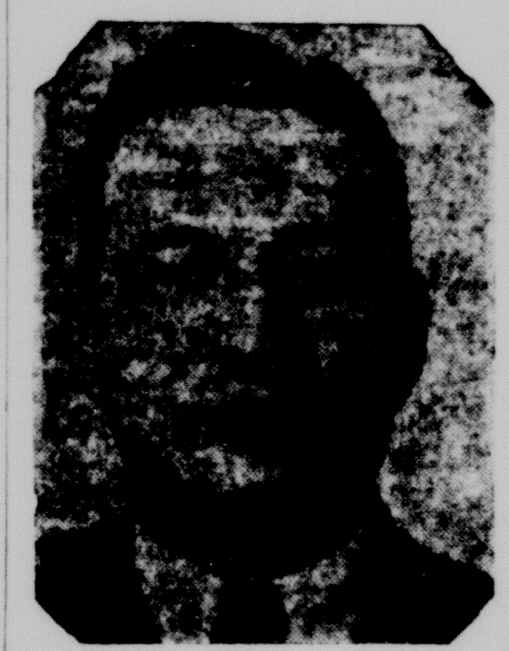

The second goal, "An increase in Sunday school attendance" will be the featured goal, and standings will be published weekly.

The third goal, "An increase in Church attendance" will be covered by having the participating Sunday schools, or as many as will, give the percentage of those attending Sunday school who remained for the morning church service. Last year practically all of the New Castle Sunday schools furnished these figures that were published weekly.

The fourth goal, "An increase in Bible study" will be reached largely by having the Sunday schools taking part, encourage daily Bible reading. Dr. Hugh Thompson Kerr of the Shadyside Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, has a splendid daily Bible reading booklet which is sent upon request, and there are many other similar ones.

Plans are also in the making for a county and New Castle district Leadership Training school during this campaign, details to be announced later.

Coaltown Church To Have Revival

Light Activity Follows Smash Tunisia Victory

British Eighth Army Prepares To Cross Tunisian Border In Few Days

(International News Service) ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 6.—Fighting in Tunisia was limited to patrol actions today following the smashing Allied air victory Friday when American Flying Fortresses, escorted by Lockheed Lightning fighters, shot down 26 enemy planes and damaged an equal number.

British forces clung to a newly won high position in the Djebel Monssour despite strong enemy attacks. American forces withdrew from Sened after accomplishing their mission of routing the garrison. A French communiqué reported only light patrol activity.

The bulk of the British Eighth Army, now in Tripolitania, was expected to cross the Tunisian border within the next few days. Only a few Axis forces were still in Libya, fighting rearguard actions with British advanced units.

The big American bombers got 24 of the bag of 26 enemy planes during an attack on airbases near Gabes in southern Tunisia. One Fortress and four American fighters were lost in the battle.

Senator Believes Hitler Is Maniac

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Sen. Edward C. Johnson (D-Colo.), said today that "there is a good chance that Adolf Hitler is a raving maniac and is locked up."

Johnson expressed belief that Hitler's mental condition is a more likely explanation for his absence at public demonstrations than is the suggestion of former ambassador Joseph E. Davies that Hitler may be dead.

"Hitler's failure to appear at important meetings, the consternation now sweeping Germany and his natural lack of balance, argue for this possibility," Johnson said. "The German reverses in Russia, of course, are at the bottom of the alarm being felt in Germany."

Johnson expressed belief that if Hitler actually were dead, the German high command would promptly announce it both to Germany and to the world.

Dear Quotarians:

Monday evening we will meet with Miss Mary Clarke, Boyles avenue, to continue with our knitting for the Red Cross.

Business as usual will also be conducted, and a social period will follow. A large attendance is desired.

Delay Action On Salary Limitation Repeal Measure

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—President Roosevelt stepped into the congressional fight over his executive order limiting salaries to $25,000 a year, with the result that the House Ways and Means Committee today postponed action on the issue for the second time in as many weeks.

With the committee understood to be at least 13 to 12 in favor of repealing the limitation, Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.), made public a letter from Mr. Roosevelt in which the chief executive offered to submit his views at a later date.

At Doughton's request the committee, meeting behind closed doors this morning, deferred action until next Saturday pending a further statement from the president.

Outlook Of Restaurant Business Is For Bigger Trade, Bigger Headaches

By JANE COCHRAN (U. S. Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Restauranters, surveying the confusion of rationing, manpower rulings, high food costs and shortages, today found a picture as obscure as the ingredients of the legendary restaurant hash.

Points rationing, which goes into effect March 1, was seen by one restaurant owner as a spur to trade—housewives, down to their last can of peas will propose dining in a restaurant where no coupons must be surrendered.

But that may be a mixed blessing, restaurant men and restaurant associations pointed out.

"We will have our own rationing, even though we haven't gotten the details yet," Elsa Curtis, director of the New York State Restaurant association said.

Full Cup Doomed Coffee quotas have been set for restaurants and the expected reduction to restaurants will doom the full cup of coffee for diners out, Miss Curtis predicted. Demi-tasse will be what you'll get if supplies are reduced much more.

Many restaurants have had difficulty in obtaining the supplies of meat they need, and the problem of a "meatless Tuesday" in New York each week is an additional complication.

But the problem of securing—and keeping—help is by far the most difficult, Miss Curtis said. This was true even before the war manpower ruling listing waiters jobs as unessential and subjecting draft-age men holding them to being called up.

Women Not Interested The restaurant industry, for years, has been dominated by men. But now, when women would be welcomed with open arms, the women just aren't interested in restaurant jobs.

"It's difficult to get women to replace men," Miss Curtis said. "There's something glamorous about work in a defense plant, and restaurants can't compete in salaries with defense jobs. Women don't realize that restaurants are important to war work—that we're feeding thousands of war workers."

Various training courses to fit women for restaurant work, especially the more skilled jobs, have been established by the National Restaurant association and the New York Institute of dietetics and they're aiding the situation, Miss Curtis said.

"Restaurants are working under difficulties, but they're doing a good job," she said. "They've done a good job in making the public realize that the difficulties are not their fault."

Women Trainmen Start Work Today In Philadelphia

Three Women, In Natty Blue Uniforms, Serve On Suburban Passenger Trains

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 6.—Women began work as passenger trainmen on Pennsylvania Railroad Philadelphia suburban trains today, replacing employees who have entered the armed forces.

Miss Elizabeth B. Johns, of Philadelphia, was on duty on the Paoli Local leaving the suburban station at 9:45 o'clock this morning, the first of three women to start work on the trains today. Misses Vera Ruth Demmer, of Camden, N. J., and Ethel P. Moore, of this city, were assigned to service on other Paoli Locals during the day. They performed the regular duties of passenger brakemen.

The uniform of the new women train employees consists of a fitted blue coat with "P.R.R." insignia on the lapels, plain blue skirt, white shirt, four-in-hand black tie and a natty blue trainman's-type hat. A topcoat, conforming closely to the regular trainman's coat, completes the uniform.

Twenty-seven other women have been trained for the service and will be placed on Philadelphia suburban trains and Baltimore and Harrisburg Locals as they are equipped with uniforms. The railroad will train additional women for the work as they are needed.

Filipino Guerillas Still Harass Japs

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Filipino guerillas are still harassing the Japanese nine months after the fall of Corrigidor, the Japanese-controlled Manila radio admitted today in a broadcast heard by the FCC.

"Complete peace and order in the Philippines," Manila said, had been disturbed by guerillas operating in Northern Luzon and on Mindanao.

Since 1772 Henderson, N. C., has been a tobacco market town.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Feb. 6.—Plea from legislative leaders asking members not to sponsor useless or unnecessary legislation has met with little success. During the four legislative weeks, actually only 10 days because the legislators only sit three days a week, the General Assembly has been in session, more than 300 bills have been introduced. Most of them have been pigeonholed by committees and will never come to the floor for action. The number will grow larger, especially after Governor Martin delivers his budget address and members know how much money is expected to be available for the next biennium. During the 194-45 session in 1941 the legislative docket groaned under the weight of 2,460 bills, of which 497 were approved by former Governor James.

The bills must be printed in the legislative history, which shows the action taken after they have been introduced. The joint state government commission estimates that it costs $6.12 to print the title of a bill in the history every time the measure is acted upon. As a money-saving move, the commission recommended that resolutions be printed only once because the page price is the same and resolutions are reprinted in every history, costing as much as $79 for each resolution in a single session.

Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, of Harrisburg, Republican state chairman, suffered a minor defeat when the G. O. caucus "jumped the traces" and selected former State Senator Charles A. P. Bartlett of Easton, as senate librarian. Taylor opposed Bartlett but told the caucus behind closed doors that he had no candidate of his own for the $4500-a-year post which originally was filled by a Dauphin county resident. Bartlett, who had served in the senate since 1939, was defeated last year by cheerful Carleton T. Woodring, of Easton, a member of the House during the 1941 and 1942 sessions. When Bartlett's name was placed in nomination he was seconded by Woodring and elected unanimously.

The Department of Public Instruction is cooperating with the U. S. Office of Education and the Pennsylvania State College to relieve a critical shortage of physics and mathematics teachers in smaller schools. "The U. S. Office of Education, as part of its college-level war training program, is planning to assist in meeting this need through correspondence instruction in the basic subject matter of physics and mathematics to be offered by universities in various parts of the country," the department stated. "Although this instruction is not for college credit, the courses have been prepared by specialists who have been responsible for subject matter instruction of teachers of mathematics and physics." It was added: A pre-requisite for the course is that the registrant must be endorsed by a responsible school authority.

Patrolman Goes Berserk; Three Men Wounded

Beats, Shoots Passersby In Brooklyn, Turns In False Fire Alarm

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 6—Patrolman Joseph Finnerty, 39, was taken to the Kings County hospital in a strait-jacket today after he beat and shot two men, wounding both seriously, attacked another and turned in a false fire alarm.

Finnerty, of St. Albans, L. I., went berserk in Brooklyn, far from his post. He seized Harry Bleakley, 37, and beat him severely. Then he stopped a passing motorist, pulled Frank Marino, 37, out of the car and shot him in the chest.

An attack on Julius Amendola, 21, in which the victim also was shot followed. Five minutes later, the false fire alarm was sounded and when police arrived they found Finnerty dazedly leaning against a telephone pole.

Director Van Dyke Dies In Hollywood

Recently Retired From Marine Corps; Had Directed Films Since 1919

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 6—Funeral services will be held Monday for Maj. Woodbridge S. Van Dyke, 2nd, noted motion picture director who died suddenly yesterday. He was 53.

Retired recently from the U. S. Marine Corps reserve because of poor health, Van Dyke had been a film director since he was mustered out of the U. S. Armed Forces in 1919.

Among his better known screen successes were "Trader Horn," "White Shadows of the South Seas," "The Thin Man," "San Francisco," "Rosalie," "Sweethearts" and scores of others. Many of his films took him on "location" to far corners of the earth, including Tahiti, Africa and the Arctic.

exceedingly difficult for a corporation to have a quorum represented at stockholders' meetings. And it will also become more difficult to get first-class men to serve as directors. Even under the old rules the difficulties in getting a quorum and in securing the services of good men on the boards were considerable. Under the new ones they would be enormously enhanced.

IN ADDITION, the greatly enlarged amount of material required to be included in proxy statements will further burden the already overburdened personnel and greatly add to the expense. Another effect would be to further impede future financing by listed corporations. Also, the point is made that the commission has now unjustifiably assumed jurisdiction over the annual reports of listed corporations and entered a field not contemplated by the law. It is not an exaggeration to say that industry generally is aroused over the injustice of this latest bureaucratic heckling and affronted by the flimsy and unsubstantiated reasons advanced for it.

FLAT DENIAL is made that there exists any demand among small stockholders for action of this kind or that, as the SEC publicly asserted last summer, "the proxy device has been sadly prostituted and we see more and more today instances of management feathering its nest at the expense of its stockholders as well as that of the Government." This, it is claimed, would be indefensible demagoguery in a period of peace; it is worse than that in a time of war when industry is straining under war-production schedules and needs every ounce of its energy to meet what is required of it. As for the reasons behind the new move one group attributes it to a desire upon the part of the SEC to secure publicity. For a long time it was much in the public eye, but since the war began it has been relegated to relative obscurity. The new rules, some think, are primarily intended by the SEC to reassert its importance.

OTHERS believe that their real inspiration comes from certain of the more advanced of the Administration radicals who have their minds and hearts primarily set upon extending the New Deal "social gains" war or no war. It seems reasonable to believe that this Congress will take the view that this is no time to push new "social reforms" upon business men even if they are good. If there is a hearing on the bills already introduced, there will be no trouble in demonstrating that this particular reform is not good. The evidence is overwhelming.

The World and the Mud Puddles

become less complicated. A prediction that there will be less work for lawyers seems as unlikely of fulfillment as a prediction that there will be less government. And that's the least likely thing of which we can think.

Second, there exists a rich vein of legal work that has never been developed. It is found in the large need for lawyers' services that is not presently being met. The "ein" has been exposed at one point by the neighborhood law office experiment and the various legal reference bureaus. The late Professor Silas Harris, of Ohio State University Law School, showed it cropping out in both the business and residential communities of Columbus. And in the story of many a person who finds himself involved in serious but easily preventable trouble we catch a glimpse of the ore.

It may well be that the nation can get along with a smaller number of lawyers, even in years of great prosperity and after the exploitation of presently undeveloped opportunities. To that extent one agrees readily with Mr. McCormick's thought. But in so far as he makes the term "probable decline in paying law work" one of the premises for a syllogism of discouragement, we feel constrained to take issue with him.

And we know he hopes we're right!

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt in a message to Premier Stalin: "I congratulate you on the brilliant victory at Stalingrad. . . the decisive result which all Americans are celebrating today will remain one of the proudest chapters in this war of the peoples united against Nazism and its emulators."

AUSTIN, Texas—James A. Farley, former postmaster general: "We are going to settle this war before the calendar year is over."

WASHINGTON—Claude Wickard, secretary of agriculture: "Fighting American food is helping Russia beat Hitler."

NEW YORK—David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America: "If big business is a crime, business men are entitled to know it."

An Opportunity

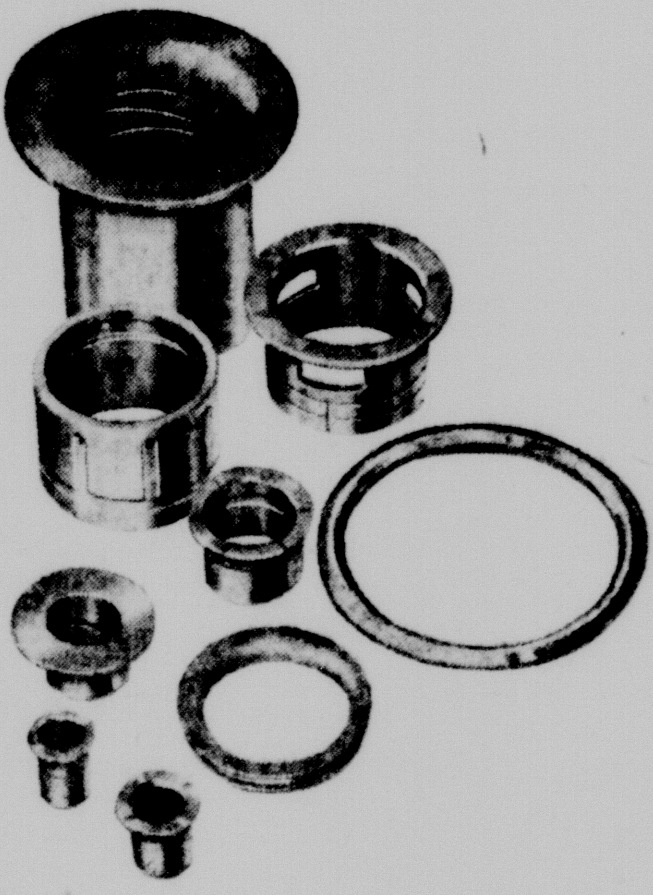

For Men and Women NOT employed in a Vital War Industry...

The War Manpower Commission has estimated that an additional 6,400,000 workers will be needed in war industry this year. They have urged men and women, both unemployed and those employed in activities not related to the war effort, to offer their services for Victory.

If you are in this class, there is an excellent opportunity for you at Johnson Bronze. We are engaged 100% in war work. Every bushing and bearing that leaves our shop is destined for some vital role toward victory. We need more men and women . . . intelligent, willing workers. Actual experience is not necessary but is helpful. You should have some mechanical inclination.

To men and women of this type, we offer the chance to make a direct contribution to our country's war effort . . . and be well paid for doing it. Moreover, we offer an exceptional opportunity for the future. While all our efforts are for armament today, we are essentially a peace time industry. Our record over the past thirty-five year shows a consistent, steady growth. We will grow to a greater industry after the war.

Why not give this opportunity serious thought? Then file an application either with our personnel department or with the United States Employment Service, Citizens Bank Bldg., New Castle, Pa. Get into the fight now . . . and get it over.

viously hope for is a secure enough mainland foothold to enable 'em to dig in before they can be routed, just as they managed in early post-Russo-Jap war days, previously referred to.

If they manage it it's conceded that they'll be a pest indefinitely, regardless of Germany.

They'll be a pest to the United States. They'll be a grave danger to Australia and other southern Pacific British holdings, and they probably will gobble the Dutch East Indies temporarily before they can be headed off.

China should stand out against 'em, but it will be a darned sight harder job if they're waging an independent fight.

Russia's problematic. Traditionally Russia is anti-Jap. The circumstance that it hasn't come into the United Nations' activities against Japan lately doesn't signify much. It doubtless is too considerably occupied nearer home to sprawl out to the eastward.

With Germany surrendering unconditionally (if and when) it remains to be seen what Russia would do in regard to the Nipponese. Anyway, an unconditional surrender isn't necessarily a surrender of the whole present Axis group—not including Japan. And the Japs may turn out to be a very material left-over consideration to be dealt with as an aftermath to the main thing.

Tokyo, by the way, just now is offering independence to the Philippines, if they'll line up on the Japanese side. I don't think they'll do it; the Japs are too tricky for them, out it would be an embarrassment if they did.

Filipinos are pretty thick in Washington and I believe 'em to be a very loyal crowd. We've managed those islands middling well. And the Japs were rather slow in coming to bat with their offer. It's a redeeming feature of that situation on the east Asiatic coast.

MORGENTHAU RECOVERS TO RETURN TO WORK

(International News Service)
HAVANA, Feb. 6 — U. S. Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, fully recovered from his recent illness, will return to Washington this week-end, it was announced today. Yesterday Mr. Morgenthau made courtesy calls at the Cuban Treasury and on President Fulgencio Batista.

You Keep 'Em Flying We'll Keep 'Em Rolling

High in the skies over Germany, over Italy, over the islands of the South Pacific, American fliers are carrying the grim message of war home to those who unleashed the war dogs. It is your job to keep them flying until victory is won. It takes money to do it, money to buy planes and outfit fliers.

Over the highways of the United States trucks are carrying the implements of war, tanks and guns and shells. More—they are carrying the foodstuffs so necessary to the home front, the every day necessities of war time life. Our job is to keep them rolling and we will.

All of us have a job to do. We pledge ourselves to the faithful performance of our job.

Work Or Fight Order Brings No Rush Here

Following close on the War Manpower Commission's recent "work or fight" order, the United States Employment Service office stands pledged and held responsible to supply essential industries with manpower, according to J. L. Connelly, manager of the local office.

"Any person can file an application for work here," he said. Forms used are self-applications, on which the applicant is encouraged to list all his skills, to assist the office in placing him where he can use his abilities to the fullest extent.

Men who are in draft classification 3-A and now employed in non-essential industries will receive an official slip at the employment office as soon as they have applied through the office for work in an essential industry.

So far there has been no marked increase in the number of applications there from men between the ages of 17-38 in 3-A classification to enter war work. This may be due to the fact that there are very few men in this area who will be affected by the WMC order or that those who will be affected by the order have not yet come to the point of applying for a change of occupation.

In any case, under the WMC order, these men will be liable for the draft after April 1, regardless of dependency, unless they can prove to the draft boards that they are making an effort to change to essential work.

Counsel Plans To Appeal; Circuit Court Of Appeals Upholds Death Sentence

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Feb. 6.—The case of Max Stephan, Detroit German-born restaurant proprietor who was sentenced to hang for treason, will be carried to the United States supreme court, Nick Salowich, Stephan's attorney, declared today.

Salowich immediately started mapping plans for a new appeal after being informed that the sixth district court of appeals in Cincinnati had affirmed the death sentence meted out last Aug. 6 by Federal Court Judge Arthur J. Tuttle in Detroit.

Stephan was convicted by a federal grand jury of giving aid to Hans Peter Krug, a German flier who escaped from a Canadian prison camp and made his way to Detroit. Krug was later captured and returned to Canada.

Two Miners Killed At Oakmont Crossing

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 6.—Two Springdale miners were killed today on their way to work when a locomotive smashed into their automobile at a railroad crossing in Oakmont.

The dead men were Frank R. Artac, 55, and John Adams, 50. Artac was killed instantly and Adams died on the way to a city hospital, officials reported.

The train, en route to New Kensington from Pittsburgh, demolished the car which was dragged about 500 feet along the tracks.

TITANS MAKE BID FOR 5TH VICTORY

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 6.—In one of the highlights of the current season, the Pitt Panthers will invade local territory tonight to meet the Towering Titans of Westminster college here in the college gym.

With their record of seven wins and only one defeat, the Panthers will enter the contest a heavy favorite. Although the Smokey City cagers have had only one setback to Ohio State, they suffered a close shave when the Bethany Bisons came within one-point of upsetting them in the season's opener.

Three Vets Missing
Missing from last year's Pitt starting combination are Larry Paffrath and Eddie Ziolkowski, the two leading scorers, and Jim Esau, a guard. This trio graduated, and in addition to them, Steve Shuber, who alternated as a starter with Egan and Harry Matthews, a reserve forward, are in the Army.

For his starting lineup, Dr. Carlson will probably select the same five that have been starting since the season's opener. Bob Artman and Tay Malarkey are the forwards, while Paul Lohmeyer takes care of the pivot spot. John Walters Jones and Lloyd Carlson will fill in at the guard posts.

Interest will be centered on Malarkey, star forward, who is rated one of the most talented collegiate performers in the country. His high scoring feats have wrecked the hopes of every opponent—save Ohio State. He will have to be stopped if the Titans expect to conquer.

Coach Stands Pat
Coach Grover Washburn will send in Heddleson and O'Hara at forwards, Goldblum at center, and Miller and Ossoff at guard, against the "Ice Cream Eaters." It will be Goldblum's first appearance against the Panthers since Pitt's freshman rule barred him from playing last year.

Victory for the Titans will more than compensate for losses to Tech and Allegheny and will toss a monkey wrench into the tournament plans of the Carlsomen. However, to attain victory, Westminster must flash book form basketball.

The contest starts at 8:15.

Lineup:

Titans	Pitt
Heddleson	Artman
O'Hara	Malarkey
Goldblum	Lohmeyer
Miller	Jones
Ossoff	Carlson

Coach Stands Pat
Coach Grover Washburn will send in Heddleson and O'Hara at forwards, Goldblum at center, and Miller and Ossoff at guard, against the "Ice Cream Eaters." It will be Goldblum's first appearance against the Panthers since Pitt's freshman rule barred him from playing last year.

Victory for the Titans will more than compensate for losses to Tech and Allegheny and will toss a monkey wrench into the tournament plans of the Carlsomen. However, to attain victory, Westminster must flash book form basketball.

The contest starts at 8:15.

Lineup:

Titans	Pitt
Heddleson	Artman
O'Hara	Malarkey
Goldblum	Lohmeyer
Miller	Jones
Ossoff	Carlson

CUBS WILL BATHE AND TAKE NAPS

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—The Chicago Cubs were assured today of getting off to a clean and restful start in the spring training at French Lick Springs, Ind., with the announcement that baths and afternoon naps would be compulsory for the first 10 days at camp.

The announcement was made by Manager Jimmy Wilson, who explained the Spa's sulphur baths at 120 degrees Fahrenheit and a nap afterwards were just the thing the Cubs needed to take down that excess weight and put them in condition.

Titan Natators At State Today

Coach Ferris' Westminsterites Seeking 15th Consecutive Win

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 6.—Seeking their 15th consecutive victory, the Westminster Titan swimmers, defending Penn-Ohio champions, travel to State College today for a meet with the Penn State tankers.

It will be a "homecoming" event for Titan Coach Joe Ferris, who is taking his flashy Blue and White natators back to his alma mater to show Robert E. Galbraith, State swimming coach, "a thing or two." Although eight meets were canceled at the beginning of the year, the local tankers have seen their schedule cut in two by cancellations because of gasoline rationing and transportation difficulties. In their first meet the Titans won easily over Penn College, 44-31, and then last Wednesday afternoon decisively defeated a Carnegie Tech squad, 52-20.

Farrell High Edges Sharon Rivals, 26-24

FARRELL, Feb. 6.—With 3,300 screaming fans looking on, Farrell high's passers took the Mercer county lead here last night by nudging a stout Sharon quint, 26-24. The "Belers," sporting an 11-4 first period lead, walked off with a 19-13 halftime margin. Then Sharon kept pecking away. The rally, however, ended with a futile midcourt heave.

At the start of the set to a new basketball was awarded to the person buying the biggest bond. A $13,000 bid copped the spheroid.

Armstrong-Larkin Matched For Mar. 8

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Hammerin' Henry Armstrong will meet Tippy Larkin of Carfield, N. J., in a 10-round bout at San Francisco March 8. It was announced today by Armstrong's manager, George Moore.

It will be the former triple-titleholder's 16th comeback fight. He has won 14 bouts in his amazing climb to regain a championship.

KENNY RICHARDSON SOLD TO HOLLYWOOD

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 6.—In an outright cash deal, Kenny Richardson, clever infighter from Williamsport, Pa., of the Eastern league, today was purchased by the Hollywood Stars. Richardson played for Los Angeles several years ago. He is a 3-A in the draft.

LIONS TO BOWL

Lions will bowl at 9:30 p. m. Monday at Wimer's alleys, Nesheanock avenue. It was announced today. The Lions league consists of two teams.

Shenango Falls

Shenango dominated play from the opening whistle, leading 17-12 at halftime. With less than two to go, Novad dunked a one-hander to net Bessemer an important win which kept the "Cementers" in the title running.

Jack Grubisa was outstanding for the winners. Most of his one-handed heaves were true. Tanner featured for Shenango.

LaMotta Upsets 'Sugar' Robinson

Loss Is First In 130 Bouts; Bell Saves Loser In Eighth Frame

CROWD OF 18,930 SEES DETROIT TIF

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Feb. 6.—Promoter Nick Lodges today was attempting a rematch between Ray "Sugar" Robinson and Jack LaMotta after LaMotta last night handed Robinson his first defeat in 130 fights before a record crowd of 18,930 in Olympia.

LaMotta, hard-hitting middleweight from the Bronx, not only decisively earned the 10-round decision but he almost kayaked the Negro welterweight in the eighth round.

Bell Saves "Sugar"

Robinson lay sprawling outside the ring from a hard right to the body and a left to the head and the count was nine when the bell rang, saving the colored lad from a knockout.

Judge Michael H. Butler gave the fight to LaMotta by a score of 57 points to 49. Judge Joe Lenahan recorded 55 points for LaMotta and 45 for Robinson while Referee Sam Hennessey gave LaMotta 52 points and Robinson 47. Robinson came back in good shape after his knockdown in the eighth and slugged toe to toe with LaMotta in the ninth and tenth rounds. The loser was a tired man at the finish, however.

The fight last night grossed $47,280 and netted $39,399. It was the largest crowd ever to witness a fight in Olympia.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Racing is in jeopardy. Rubber Administrator William M. Jeffers has asked governors in states housing race tracks to place a ban on them if they are so located as to transportation is necessary. Bay Meadows track in California already has cancelled its meet. River Downs, Thistledown and Ascot tracks in Ohio likely will be among the closed tracks.

Fritz Zivic lost the decision to Beau Jack last night in New York but Fritz did better than those who wagged against him believed and fulfilled a prediction we made as was seen in our interview with George Chip, ex-middleweight champion, which was published on Thursday. We said we wouldn't be surprised if Fritz surprised Beau Jack. He did.

George Kuroski, home run hero of the 1942 world series, signed a 1943 contract with the Cardinals today. Terms were not disclosed although Kuroski is married and has a son he recently was summoned for reclassification by his draft board.

THROUGH THE ROPES; SUGAR RAY LOSES FIRST IN 130

Ray "Sugar" Robinson topples back through the ropes, above, under the hammering blows of Jake LaMotta in the eighth round of their 10-round fight in Detroit. LaMotta won a unanimous decision to hand Robinson his first defeat in 130 bouts, 41 of them as a professional. (Photophoto.)

Offensive Strength Features '21' Tilts

New Wilmington Rips Union, 53-27; Wampum Triumphant, 67-40

BESSEMER RALLIES; NIPS SHENANGO, 23-21

Section 21 antagonists took another stride in the direction of the finish barrier yesterday. Favorites, which have predominated all season, prevailed again as the half dozen quints unfurled another amazing display of offensive strength.

New Wilmington's easy 53-27 triumph over Union Township marked the 14th consecutive conquest for the unbeaten "Greyhounds" and the eighth in league play.

At Mt. Jackson, Wampum's machine gun-like attack clicked too smoothly as the "Indians" trampled the "Mounties," 67-40.

Shenango Township, on top until the final two minutes, was bumped off by Bessemer, 23-21, at East New Castle, in a sizzler.

Cathcart Rims 21

Kenny "Skyscraper" Cathcart, New Wilmington ace, had a pion around the hoops as he tipped in or batted in eight field goals and annexed five fouls to lead his mates. The six foot six performer extended his scoring total to 265 in 14 games. Green supported him beautifully with 17 markers.

Annarella and Korab, who split 17 points, featured for the slumping Unionites.

Coy "Spring" Craine came back strong following his 48 points against Darlington, meshing 18 more markers to run his total to 361 for the season, only 15 short of breaking his own WPIAL scoring record. The Wampumite now has 1,073 for his scholastic career.

Marich emerged with high honors for the "Indians," garnering 29 points. Bradley again starred for the Jackson quint with a dozen points. McPate had a similar number.

Shenango Falls

Shenango dominated play from the opening whistle, leading 17-12 at halftime. With less than two to go, Novad dunked a one-hander to net Bessemer an important win which kept the "Cementers" in the title running.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEKALL

Could it be possible that this section of Pennsylvania would be taken out of the restricted pleasure driving zone? From reports we have been able to gather from local oil men the storage space for gasoline is getting scarce, and when gas can no longer be manufactured, no fuel oil can be made. We would also like to have a real honest to goodness comment from Washington that would convince us just what is needed. . . Gas, tires, autos or what?

The birth rate in the United States was higher in 1942 than it has been since 1921. . . that was the reported all-time maximum in birth, right after the 1st World War. What was the total for 1942, well, according to a birth rate today it is not as high as it was in 1917 but the chances for the child and mother to survive is far greater today than back in '17 and the years that followed close by. . . Today deaths in the first year of life number about 45 per 1,000 live births, a decrease of more than 50 percent since '17. The maternal mortality rate has decreased similarly during the interim. . . In 1917 deaths of mothers from diseases and conditions associated with pregnancy and childbirth numbered 6.5 per 1,000 live births. Today the rate is about 3 per 1,000 live births. . . The above we gathered from a Statistical Bulletin and thought perhaps you too might be interested in seeing how the United States has progressed on a much discussed subject.

Here is a last will and testament for Adolph Hitler. . . we have room to publish just part of the bequests:

"To Russia I leave the Russian winter, where my brave Aryan soldiers froze. . . just when we expected to land deep in the heart of Moscow."

"To England I leave the original manuscript of Mein Kampf, which the R. A. F. spoiled. I had written a different finish, but their fire got me in the end."

"To Italy I leave Japan, the land of the Rising Scum, and vice versa. It's a question who will be getting the worst of it."

"To Franklin D. Roosevelt I leave my apology for interrupting his fishing, but he got even."

"And to the entire world I just leave, and will they give thanks."

Is Mixed Today

Pressure On Liquor Shares; Strength In Few Specialties Feature

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The stock market turned in another mixed performance in today's short session, with pressure on liquor shares and strength in a handful of specialties featuring.

Several stocks worked up to new 1942-43 peaks, including Standard Oil of N. J., Standard Oil of California, Socony-Vacuum, Hudson Motors, Flintkote, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck and National Biscuit.

Schenly tumbled well over a point and National Distillers almost as much on the proposal to limit civilian consumption of liquor. Dow Chemical and Du Pont each gave up about a point.

Elsewhere fractional price changes were the rule, with the plus and minus signs divided, commodities were mixed. Bonds held within narrow limits.

Some secondary rail lines reflected a somewhat easier trend. U. S. Treasury was quiet and steady. The curb market was mixed in moderately active trading. Most price changes were small.

East New Castle Grange Opens New Hall On Tuesday

Grange Members To Have
First Meeting-Program In
New Meeting Place
Tuesday

East New Castle Grange is planning on holding their first meeting in their new Grange hall Tuesday evening, Feb. 9.

The old hall, located at Rose St. was burned in December, 1940, by a fire of undetermined origin.

While plans for a new hall were being made, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kocher donated an acre of ground for a new hall. This ground was located near the center of the Grange community and a much better location and building site than the old one.

The offer was appreciated, as Mr. and Mrs. Kocher are not members of the Grange but interested in the good of the Grange and the community.

The new building is located at Energy, where Weiglestown-Energy road meets the Ellwood-New Castle road. The building is of frame construction, 35x60 feet, and is so arranged that a maximum number of people can be seated for plays or other entertainment. When fully completed it will have a modern kitchen and dining room that will seat 100 people. It will be used for banquets and reunions, as well as Grange suppers. An air heating system has been installed.

The building committee includes:

William McConahy, Henry Wellhausen and Dale Currie. Only through the interest and donations of the Grangers and their friends has it been possible to complete this achievement.

Officers installed for the coming year are: master, Dale Currie; overseer, Henry Wellhausen; lecturer, Ann Frew; chaplain, Wilbur Barnett; steward, Lawrence Frew; assistant steward, Clair Glasser; lady assistant steward, Mary Gibson; secretary, Jeannette Glasser; treasurer, G. L. Reno; crier, Mrs. Eva Gibson; Pomona, Mrs. Ella McConahy; Flora, Mrs. John King; gatekeeper, William McConahy; executive committee, Harry Koach.

Another feature of the lecture, scheduled Tuesday evening will be a motion picture, "The Romance of Salt."

Can New Castle Afford Kindergartens?

(Contributed)

The last few years have made it very clear that making and saving money is no guarantee that our children's future will be provided for. Stocks, bonds, real estate have all alike proved undependable. How about education? In the past we have said that an education would always be of inestimable value to boys and girls. Has that proved true during the depression?

It depends on what you mean by education. Training along certain technical lines has not been a dependable asset in all cases. When speaking of the value of real estate we say hopefully, "It will come back," and we speak in the same way with regard to the value of professional training.

But there is a certain kind of education whose value never varies. It is of equal worth whether we are suffering in a depression or rejoicing in an era of prosperity—education which affords opportunity for the development of right attitudes and habits.

This kind of education cannot be begun too soon. For it to be successful, a child's brain has to be developed 90 percent of its full growth, and his basic attitudes and habits are formed. Under the trained kindergarten teacher, education will enable boys and girls to gain assets that can never be taken away from them.

As citizens, for their, we have been making a careful day by day study of these assets and found them to be altogether compelling to action on our part, in order that the children of New Castle, our future citizens, may be no longer deprived of them.

Can the city of New Castle afford kindergartens?

It is considered most impractical and unwise to economize on the foundation of any permanent building. Just so, the educational structure must rest on the early education of the children, and the kindergarten is acknowledged to give the best possible opportunity for development during the pre-school years. "But the kindergarten costs money!" we hear someone say. So does the entire educational system. The Public School system of New Castle is maintained at an annual cost of $1,086,601.00. Surely it is real educational and social economy to establish the best possible foundation for so massive an edifice.

Last year, 1941-42, the actual cost of educating each pupil in the New Castle public schools with $123.79 per pupil. Fourteen per cent of the first graders last year were required to repeat this grade. This was a total of 77 pupils. That means that the cost to the taxpayers to re-educate their 77 children in the first grade this year is $9,524.90.

Surveys from other cities show a considerable decrease in first grade failures after kindergartens were established in the public school system. Some time ago, a member of the board of education at Atlanta, Ga., wrote that before they had kindergartens, the percentage of non-promotions from the first to the second grade was very high, 33 percent. The rate of non-promotions from first to second grade after kindergartens became part of the educational system fell to 8 percent.

Our kindergartens will help pay for themselves. They will begin to do so at once in actual dollars and cents. Since first grade failures are costing our city $9,524.90 this year.

if we could have promoted little over one half, or 40 of the 77 repeaters, the total cost for kindergartens in all of the eleven grade schools in New Castle would have been saved.

But this saving is not merely a matter of dollars and cents. By reducing the unhappiness and discouragement caused by retardation, there is a priceless saving in self-respect. The fact that a child remains "in his age group" is considered a most important fact with modern educators.

To establish kindergartens throughout the eleven grade schools in New Castle Public School system would require six graduate kindergarten teachers to provide half-day sessions at each school. The state of Pennsylvania pays $350 of each kindergarten teacher's salary. With this consideration, the estimated cost of installing and maintaining the eleven kindergartens for the initial year would be $5,000. This figure includes salaries for the six teachers and provides $100 worth of new equipment for each building. A kindergarten room is available in every school except one, and some equipment is on hand. For the one exception a room can be secured.

The annual school budget for 1943 calls for an expenditure of $1,086,601.00. But the important foundation on which this great educational system should be built would cost but $5,000, or only 4 percent of the cost of the whole structure.

The question is no longer whether New Castle can afford to have a kindergarten, but rather, whether any community can afford not to have one.

Discuss this question with your fellow-citizens of New Castle at the open meeting on Monday, February 8, at 7:45 p. m. in the auditorium of the Y. W. C. A. Dr. Emma Heard of Slippery Rock State Teachers College will speak on "The Importance of Kindergarten." A moving picture, "A Day in the Kindergarten," will be shown.

CHEWTON NOTES

Mrs. Sarah Coulter and Mrs. Raymond Talley of Wampum visited with Mrs. Alfred Brown on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Nellie E. Summers and son, Lavale, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Myers in Youngstown, recently.

A meeting of the local Red Cross unit was held Wednesday afternoon in the basement of the church with 14 members present. The time was spent in sewing on garments furnished by the Red Cross. A knitting class which was started last Monday evening will be continued every Monday and Thursday evening, the place of meeting to be announced later.

Mrs. W. W. McMillin, Mrs. O. V. Douthitt, Mrs. John Gainey, Mrs. Marie Merriman, Mrs. John Hergenrother, Mrs. Andy Buchalski, Mrs. Stella Chentl and Miss Elizabeth Zolnoski motored to Ellwood City on Wednesday morning where they attended a Red Cross meeting in the City building. Thirty-two finished garments were delivered to the Red Cross leaders in Ellwood City. They had been made by the ladies of the Chewton Red Cross unit.

EDENBURG

CLUB MEETING

Edenburg Women's Club held its regular monthly meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Walter List, with Mrs. Thomas Phenicie as assistant hostess. The president, Mrs. Mabel Unangst, had charge of the business. Secretary and treasurer reports were read and accepted. It was decided to investigate the cost of a service men's honor roll similar to the one at Mt. Jackson. Eleven members and two guests attended.

EDENBURG NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. George Nicholls and Mr. and Mrs. John Filby and David were in New Castle on Tuesday.

DEDUCTIONS FOR CONTRIBUTIONS (PART 2)

Contributions and gifts which are allowable deductions for Federal income tax purposes must be of a character falling within the limitations set by law. The law defines five categories of contributions which are allowable as deductions to individuals up to 15 percent of the net income computed before the deduction is made:

(1) Contributions to or for the use of the United States or any of its political subdivisions or possessions, provided the contributions are to be used solely for public purposes and are deductible. If a contribution is for the benefit of the donor, how such a contribution would not be deductible.

(2) Contributions made to a corporation, trust, community chest fund, or foundation created or organized in the United States or any of its possessions or under the law of the United States or of any State or Territory or of any possession of the United States, no part of the earnings of which inures to the benefit of any individual, and no substantial part of the activities of which is attempting to influence legislation and which is organized and operated exclusively for one or more of the following purposes: (a) charitable, (b) religious, (c) educational, (d) scientific, (e) prevention of cruelty to animals or children, are deductible.

Such organizations would include the Red Cross, Community Chests, the U. S. O., the British War Relief Society, Inc., and other war relief organizations if organized in the United States. Religious contributions would include all contributions and assessments paid to religious and church "assessments" and "dues." Contributions for educational purposes would include those made to nonprofit schools and universities, Boy Scouts, the D. A. R., and like organizations, and to other nonprofit educational organizations. Contributions to organizations for scientific purposes would include nonprofit research foundations and other nonprofit domestic organizations engaged in research.

(3) Contributions are also deductible if made to a domestic fraternal society operating under the lodge system, but only of the contributions are to be used for one of the purposes listed above. Dues and membership fees in such societies are not deductible.

(4) Contributions made to organizations of United States war veterans and auxiliaries are deductible if such organizations, units, or societies are organized in the United States or any American possession and if no part of the net earnings of the organization is for the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.

character indicated above, certain other contributions are allowable as a business expense, to a taxpayer engaged in trade or business, if the contribution is in furtherance of his trade or business. Such contributions would include donations to a Chamber of Commerce or to trade associations, if such contributions are in general furtherance of one's trade or business, and are not for the purpose of influencing legislation.

A contribution may be made in money or property, but if in property, then the amount of the contribution is measured by the fair market value of the property at the time of the contribution.

In preparing a Federal income tax return the amount shown in item 12 for contributions must be supported by a schedule showing the names of the organizations to which the contributions were made and the amounts contributed.

CORONARY HEART TROUBLE
The arteries which supply blood to the heart muscle are called the coronary arteries. As long as the blood flows freely through them the heart is well nourished. When anything happens to plug up one of these vessels, the muscle is deprived of its blood supply and is damaged. This cripples the heart and interferes with its work. Sometimes a small clot forms on a rough place in the artery. It gradually gets larger. It hinders the flow of blood. The heart muscle does not get enough nourishment and gradually weakens. Sometimes a clot forms somewhere else and is carried along in the blood stream till it suddenly lodges in a coronary artery. It plugs it up completely.

The muscle supplied by this vessel immediately dies. This condition is called coronary embolism. Sometimes it is called apoplexy of the heart or heart stroke. This is a frequent cause of sudden death. If the patient who suffers such an accident is properly cared for right away, recovery may occur. Rest in bed for a long time sometimes heals the damaged heart. With care the patient may live for many years.
